sented by the labor committee.

The author of the bill made the principal argument today.

At the opening of the session, Mr. Grosvenor (Rep., Ohlo) had read a Washington special to a Cincinnati paper charging that at a recent meeting of the ways and means committee afof the ways and means committee, af-ter pledging himself to vote to report a reciprocary bill, he had voted against it. The special described the surprise created by his lining up with the Reed faction, and spoke of him as a McKin-ley manager, who refused to support legislation "along McKinley lines."

MR. GROSVENOR EXPLAINED facetiously that if the publication only contained the charge that he had lined up with the Reed faction he would not have troubled the house. He did think he could be found in better co (Laughter.) He said there had been a constant reiteration of the charge that the ways and means commattee was rent by factional discus-sions. This charge had no foundation in fact. There was no difference of opinion among the Republicans of the committee as to the ultimate purpose of the Republican party to carry to triumph the doctrine of reciprocity. There had been a proposition to re-enact the third section of the McKin-ley law (the reciprocity clause), but it had been found in view of the tariff law on the statute books (sugar hav-ing been placed on the dutlable list). that the third section of the McKin-ley law would not be applicable. In this opinion he had concurred, and he was ready to take the responsibility whether he lined up with one faction of another, if there were factions.

Mr. Kirkpatrick (Rep.) of Kansas then called up the bill to pension Fran-cis E. Hoover, a private in company I. Chio volunteers, at the rate of $50 per month, which was returned with

THE PRESIDENT'S VETO.

Mr. Kirkpairick moved that the bill be passed over the veto, and said if con-gress did not give him relief he would go to the poor house. The committee fould never assent to that as long as endorsed the president's veto.

Willis (Rep.) of Delaware, conclinical the debate with a stirring tenminute speech in criticism of the president's course in vetoing private pension bills. He declared it was an abuse and degradation of the veto power, and a reassertion of the idea conveyed in CLEVELAND'S CONTEMPTUOUS

STATEMENT that "he had a congress in his hands." The roll was then called on the motion to pass the bill over the veto and resulted 196 to 47. The division was generally along party lines, but Messrs. Loud, of California; Quigg, of New York; Raney, of Missouri, and Wadsworth, of New York, voted with the Democrats to support the veto, and Messrs. Cockrell, of Texas, Layton and Sorg. of Ohio; Cummings, of New Sorg, of Ohio; Cummings, of New York; Stokes and Strait, of North Car-olina and Talbert, of South Carolina, to tire day to the election of secretaries override the veto.

At 2:50 p. m. under the special order At 2:50 p. m. under the special order adopted yesterday the house proceeded to consider the bill to authorize the president to appoint a non-partisan commission to collect information and consider and recommend legislation to meet the problems presented by labor, agriculture and capital, and Mr. Phillips Rep.) of Pennsylvania, the chairman of the labor committee and author of the bill addressed the house.

The prime minister added:
"The appointment of General Fitz-hugh Lee to be consul general at Havana causes no concern or apprehen-sion, as the Spanish minister at Wash-ington continues to report the ex-cellent disposition of the executive. "The debates in the American and the Spanish congresses will not materially affect the relations of the two countries. We understand that the executive in America cannot interfere with the freedom of speech of the ora-On this highway stands the Petrovski palace, where the crars always reside previous to making their formal entry into Moscow.

Consequently this thoroughfare is one of the most attractive in Moscow and competition for windows along it has been unprecedented, prices ranging from $100 to $200, but fabulous prices were paid for the best locations. All along the route special stands were receted for privileged people, some of the structures being gorgeous pavillons more like permanent houses than anything else.

Result of a Protest By Our Consul-General.

NEW YORK, May 21 .- A special to the Herald from Havana says: Frank Laure, a naturalized American citizen, a wealthy merchant of Cardenas and a prominent sugar planter in Matanzas province, has been imprisoned by the Spenish military authorities in the district on a charge of political conspiracy. Laure's partner Enesto de Castro, whose arrest was also ordered, is in hiding. Laure refused to make any statement unless United States Consul Hames should be presented.

States Consul Hanse should be pres-ent. The consul has protested at the summary proceedings, demanding a civil trial and the right of legal decivil trial and the right of legal de-fense. The Spanish military officers laughed at the protest.

El Diario del Ejercito, a Spanish army organ in a leading article, pro-duced translations of certain corres-pondence between Generuls Sherman and Hampton in February, 1875, mak-ing charges and counter charges of re-ported acts of incendiaries, violation and execution of prisoners as reprisals during the American rebellion. These letters are quoted by Diario to justify the brutality attributed by the Ameri-can people to Captain General Weyler in Cuba.

city of Moscow is understood to have expended nearly as much money and more expenses have to be met.

The illuminations will last three evenings in succession and will cost several million dollars to the government alone, without counting what the city will contribute toward this portion of the expenses. Besides the expenses of the Russian government and the city of Moscow, that which the grand dukes, foreign princes and ambassadors have been put to is really enormous, one authority going so far as to estimate that there would be about $100,000,000 worth of jewelry alone in the procession of today.

The French government especially, has been put to very great expense for the coronation fetes. The cost of the supper which their imperial majesties will attend, under the auspices of the French envoys were the property of the Emperor Namolegon built expectable for soldiers fired at them, killing all ex-cept the American.
